

Allington
William, Earl of Craven
1608 ~ 1697

William, Earl of Craven, a noted Royalist. In 1666 he bought the Manor of Allington and he became patron of the living. He died unmarried in 1697. The Earldom was revived in favour of a distant cousin in 1801. The Earls of Craven continued as patrons of the living until 1964.

Source: St. John's Church