

Accident Whilst at Work

Mr. R. Clements, of 132 Southampton Street, Reading, who is employed in the General Post Office Engineering Department, was working by a hand truck on the road between Broad Hinton and Berwick Bassett on Friday, when a motor van collided with the truck, knocking it over. Mr. Clements was pinned between the truck and the bank, and received an injury to his leg. He was conveyed by ambulance to the Victoria Hospital, Swindon, where six stitches were inserted in the wound.

North Wilts Herald, 11 November 1927